PRICE AND NEARBY

There will be a musical dance at City Hall tomorrow night to which everyone is invited. The ladies and society of the Methodist church met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. E. W. Crockett. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. West are the parents of a new girl baby born last Tuesday. All concerned doing nicely. Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Irid gave a dinner party Sunday at their home on South Eighth street to Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Trovick to meet Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Macknight. Mrs. Julia Hall (colored) was yesterday taken to Holy Cross Hospital at Salt Lake City for an operation. Mrs. Hall until recently conducted a restaurant at Price, but of late has been residing at Helper.

Prof. and Mrs. A. S. Horsley entertained Wednesday evening the grade teachers of the public schools in honor of Miss Helena Eichenbath, who leaves Price Monday week for Salt Lake City to accept a position in the public school there. L. Antles of Denver, Colo., one of the real boosters for the Midland trail, is to have a meeting at City Hall this evening for the purpose of perfecting a local organization. All citizens of Price and also those of adjacent towns and communities are asked to be present. The Carbon County High school basketball team is to meet the Emory Stake academy boys at the gymnasium this evening. After the game will come the annual dance of the "C" club. Music for the game will be furnished by the twenty-one piece band of the high school.

Members of Carbon Lodge No. 14 F. & A. M. who were in attendance at the meeting of the grand lodge at Salt Lake City this week are: Worshipful Master Joe E. Roberts, Senior Warden L. A. McGee, Junior Warden Donald Melver and Past Masters J. B. Middleton and H. J. Turner. W. C. Deifer, until recently a resident of Price, has started a newspaper at Forest Grove, Ore. The publication has been christened the Express. All the other boosters are there also. The Sun will keep them informed on Carbon county and Eastern Utah happenings—the real news.

Dr. L. E. Mills of the Utah Methodist mission will be in Price tomorrow (Saturday) evening and will hold quarterly conference at the church in the evening. On Sunday morning Dr. Mills will preach. Also at the evening services. Other services will be held as usual, to which everyone is invited. The town clock in front of the Elite jewelry store has been out of commission since Saturday, the stoppage being caused by a small boy and a snowball, one of the glasses over the face being broken. A new glass has been ordered and Manager Wegmann expects to have the clock running in a few days.

Chris K. Jensen is hauling out twenty-five hundred sheep today at Price for Green River, where he will feed them during the cold spell of this winter. He says it is cheaper to ship than to feed here. This bunch has been in the vicinity of Cloudy Well Wash, but his locality is too high and the late snowfall too deep to hold his herd here. Noble Bronson of Louisville, Ky., and Henry Petty of Castle Gate are to meet in a fifteen round boxing contest at the Elko theater next Tuesday evening for a purse of two hundred and fifty dollars. Both boys can put up a good "scrap" and the best promises to be a good one. Bronson is training in this city, while Petty is working out at Castle Gate.

Miss Laura Horsley, the youngest daughter of Mayor Horsley, has been quite ill for several days. Transfusion of blood from relatives has been found necessary by the attending physician. As the Sun goes to press this (Friday) afternoon the young lady is said to be doing as well as might be anticipated. Miss Horsley suffers from hemorrhage of the stomach.

Prevention of certain transfers of coal lands from various Utah fuel companies to the United States Fuel company is sought in an amended complaint filed this week at Salt Lake City in the United States district court by Walter C. Best and A. J. Dunford, minority stockholders of the Castle Valley Coal company, against that company and the United States Fuel company. The plaintiff asks for an injunction to prevent the merger of the big companies.

Mark Tuttle, chief deputy state auditor, returned yesterday from Price, where he has been making the state's annual audit of Carbon county's books, says Sunday's Tribune. Except for a few minor details in which methods of accounts can be improved to accord with State Auditor Kelly's plan of unifying public accounts, Tuttle found the Carbon county records in excellent shape, says the Tribune.

There will be a meeting of the best-growers of this section of the state—more especially of Carbon county—at the court house in Price on Tuesday, February 1st, at 8 o'clock in the evening. One or more of the Austin Bros. will be at the meeting, when talks pertaining to the industry will be heard. It is likely a meeting of similar character will be held at Wellington on the evening of February 2d.

The car companies overpaid their taxes in one county of the state, according to a discovery of Mark Tuttle, chief deputy state auditor, who has just completed an audit of the books of Carbon county. In this county the car companies overpaid a hundred and seventy-five dollars which will be refunded. The overpayment was the result of the failure of the county clerk to notify the commission of a reduction in the levy for county school purposes from twenty-three to eighteen mills.

Articles of incorporation of Robert Gilchrist & Co., of Elmhurst, N. J., have been filed with the secretary of state. The company proposes to do a realty, mining and smelting business in Utah, and is capitalized at $25,000 with two hundred and fifty shares of the value of one hundred dollars each. Thomas L. McCarthy of Green River is named as agent for the company. Robert Gilchrist is president; George F. Hurd, secretary, and the other incorporators, all Eastern men, are W. H. Orr and John L. Peery.

At Salt Lake City the other morning a presumably frail, defenseless little woman, armed with a small caliber revolver and accompanied by a bulldog, made a gallant charge on two desperadoes who were on chicken stealing bent. She captured one after putting a bullet in his leg and grabbing his scalp with another. His companion escaped after the bulldog had considerably lacerated his feelings and sanity. It is to be hoped the Industrial Workers of the World, of which organization the captured gentleman was secretary, will fill his place with a man with higher aims.

C. W. Shores, recently appointed chief of police at Salt Lake City, filed his bond last Wednesday and at once assumed the duties of the position. So far no changes have been made in the force, and from newspaper statements at Salt Lake City it is believed there will be none for some time. "Doc" Shores has hosts of friends throughout Eastern Utah and especially Carbon county. A. J. Millings, at one time claim agent for the Utah Fuel company and at another with the Deaver and Ilo Grande as special agent, will likely be private secretary to Chief Shores. Mullings is well and favorably known locally.

The remains of Alexander G. Pierpont of Mohrland, who died last Saturday at Holy Cross Hospital at Salt Lake City after an operation following a crushed skull, were brought to Price last Monday and short funeral services were held. Numerous friends from the coal camp were in attendance. The body went to Canton, Ill. for interment. Deceased was 21 years of age and leaves a wife and two children, the latter accompanying the remains East, and are to make their home at Canton. The dead man was employed by the United States Fuel company at Mohrland and was captain of the mine rescue team there.

The Don't Knock, band club recently organized by several of the younger set of Price met at the home of Frank W. Averill last Tuesday evening. The time was spent in music, singing, dancing and cards, after which refreshments brought by the ladies were served. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Averill, Misses Mabel Stowell, Eugenia Horsley, Flora Lee, Edna Callaway, Ruth Whimpey and Mildred Hamilton, and Messrs. Albert Horsley, Guy Thomas, James Wade, Claude Averill, Fred Woods, Jr., Karl Averill, Merrill Street, Irvin Ward, Clarence Robinson, Lloyd Woods and Frank W. Averill.

Charlie Gregorio, a familiar figure around the Denver and Ilo Grande section in Price and for thirty years a depot foreman of the railroad, died Sunday morning at his county home of uremic poisoning. His funeral took place from the parlors of a local undertaker last Monday afternoon and was in charge of his three friends, Frank Brown, Joe Bonavent and Peter Deane of Helper. Gregorio was born in Italy, about sixty-four years ago and so far as is known has no relatives in this country. Interment was at the city cemetery. Deceased was a kindly soul, honorable and honest to a degree. May his sleep be pleasant.

Next Monday evening the parents' class of the Lorraine-Saints church will hold a session at the Carnegie library for which an interesting program has been prepared. During this year the class will study problems of the care and handling of children with special emphasis being placed upon the literature which should come into the hands of every child. The books that a child should read will be read by the parents as well as books which deal with the proper rearing of children. Every parent is invited to be present. The committee in charge has in store for those who attend some surprises in the way of entertainment.

Herewith is the Mutual Improvement program at the tabernacle next Sunday evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, and to which the public is cordially invited. Preliminary; opening song, congregation; select reading, Miss Mary Miller; chorus, "Lead Kindly Light," high school literary club, directed by Prof. A. Fargener.

PURELY PERSONAL

—Mrs. Olive Miller of Price is visiting with Mrs. Robert Irvin at Mohrland for a few days.

—Judge Ferdinand Erickson of Salt Lake City was transacting legal business at Price and Castle Gate during the week.

—Dr. P. H. Baker of Mohrland was a guest at the Tavern last Sunday, returning from Salt Lake City after accompanying a patient there.

—F. C. Smith of Kemmerer, Wyo., has accepted a position with the Golden Rule store at Price. He comes from the original store at Kemmerer.

—Miss Irene Thomas, teacher in the Helper schools, entertained last Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. James Kavanaugh of that place in honor of the school teachers' literary club.

—Len Alger was in from Nine Mile the first of the week on business, having come in for supplies for his brother, Frank. He made the trip by sleigh and says the going was good.

—E. M. Brown, who had been organizing the meeting of the organization of eighty-five Golden Rule stores at Salt Lake City, is expected home tomorrow. The meeting at Zion was held last Friday.

—A. G. Guthrie returned from Salt Lake City Wednesday. While away he made a trip to the Star mining district, where he is interested in valuable mineral claims adjacent to the Bonanza and Paloma properties.

—Rev. L. Adameski of New York City arrived at Helper last week to fill the position of priest for the Greek church community for Carbon county, an organization lately incorporated in that city with jurisdiction over this county.

—E. R. Lucas, one of the substantial citizens of Helper, was in Price this morning and while here paid his respects to The Sun—the best newspaper on earth. The Helper mines are working exceptionally well at this time he says.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gutwits and children left Friday evening for Green River, where they will reside, having purchased a small ranch near that town. They will devote their time to ranching and fruit raising. The Gutwits are old residents of Price and have many friends here who will regret their departure.

—A. Ketchum, a former resident of Carbon county and with coal interests at Castle Gate, was a recent visitor in Price. He was registered at a local hotel and while here had much pleasure in reviewing old acquaintances. Ketchum's home is in Portland, Ore., and one of his greatest pleasures, he asserts, is to read The Sun, this "great family newspaper."

—L. N. Mullen of Des Moines, Ia., representing Chamberlain Medicine company, was a recent visitor in Price. While here he not only renewed a contract with The Sun for a year in advance, but ascertained through the editor and his "children of information" who are the people in Eastern Utah that are worthy of credit. Mullen thinks a newspaper is a criterion of the town in which it is published.

—Mrs. C. A. Novis left Price last evening for Salt Lake City to join her husband, late manager of the Golden Rule at Price. The latter goes from Zion to New York city and Mrs. Novis will accompany him as far as Delhi, Kan., their former home. Returning from New York, Novis will go to Arizona to become manager of one of four stores in that state at Globe. He will meet Mrs. Novis on the return trip at Deloit. As soon as located in Arizona Mrs. George Novis, mother of C. A. Novis, will make her home in the same city as her son.

baritone solo (vocal), George Mathis; lesson, "My Word of Honor," Carl R. Marcosen. The following Sunday a special rhetorical and musical preparation will be given, among which will be Miss Inez Scott's rendition of "The Halls of the Church at Kansas City," with music and a string combination by Prof. A. Fargener.

Jack Jewkes, the youngest child of Samuel R. Jewkes and the late Victoria Jewkes, died at Orangeville, January 17, 1916. Little Jack was born at Heshburg, Ind., August 17, 1915, and was the baby child of this estimable couple. Mrs. Jewkes died two weeks after the birth of the baby which has now passed. The father, who resides at Castle Gate, was here this week going and coming from the funeral and burial of the babe. The father has the sympathies of numerous friends at Price and elsewhere in Carbon and Emery counties, which words are inadequate to express. Before going to Idaho Mr. and Mrs. Jewkes were residents of this city, coming here from Orangeville.

Harry W. Dewey, local manager for Armour & Co. at Price, and Miss Edith Potter, chief operator in this city for the Eastern Utah Telephone company, are to be married tomorrow evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Potter, parents of the bride to be. Bishop Bryner of Price ward will perform the ceremony. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Dewey will make their home at the Levi N. Harmon residence on Eighth street. The groom came to Price something like a year ago from Pueblo, Colo., and is a splendid gentleman, an excellent business man and is held in high esteem by all who have come in contact with him as well as by the community he represents. Miss Potter is one of Price's most attractive, worthy and accomplished young women and in every way deserving the gentleman whose life companion she is to become. The Sun with numerous friends extends congratulations.

Mrs. J. M. Slapp entertained the Misses Clara Harris and Kathryn Yergerson at lunch Thursday afternoon.

Superintendent and Mrs. W. N. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Tucker were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Treadle of Castle Gate at a dinner party Sunday.

The Eighty-Eight club entertained the commercial club of Castle Gate Saturday night.

Miss Kathryn Edsman entertained the Embroidery club Saturday. Those in attendance were Mrs. C. H. Fahring, Mrs. A. D. Hadley, Mrs. James Westfield, Mrs. M. H. Leavelle, Mrs. C. H. Frank, Mrs. Joseph Fretts, Mrs. James Naylor, Misses Emily and May Belle Laanen and the hostess, Miss Kathryn Edsman.

GAME WARDEN URGES THAT THE HUNGRY QUAIL BE FED

David J. Madsen, chief deputy fish and game warden was in Salt Lake City last week from Provo. Madsen appeared before the state board of examiners to secure aid in feeding the quail scattered throughout the fields of the state. These birds are not naturally cold weather birds, and are more or less helpless in providing food for themselves when the ground is covered with snow. They are among the finest game birds in the world, and are protected all over the state. At the present, however, they are inactive, and consequently grow droopy unless food is placed where they can get at it. Madsen says that several of fifty bushels of wheat have been fed to the quail in Utah county already this year. In one place, back of Pleasant Grove, he says there are at least fifteen hundred quail which come to the feeding grounds every day. They are tame and pay no heed to the game wardens who scatter the feed.

Madsen says that quail will eat wheat, cracked wheat, seed seeds of any kind, or anything going to make up the ordinary bird's diet, and urges the farmers of the state to spare a little wheat for these game birds during the period of cold and snow.

H. G. Williams, consulting manager of Utah Fuel company, J. R. Thompson, general superintendent, and M. P. Bradford, general solicitor, were at Sunnyside last Friday and later came to Price. The trip on the part of the two former was one of general inspection of the coal properties and the cooking plant at the company's largest camp. After spending Saturday at Price, Messrs. Williams and Thompson went to Castle Gate and from there visited Winter Quarters, Clear Creek and Utah Mine, where everything was found, it is said, in splendid physical condition. On account of his wife's health, General Manager Williams has been making his home in Los Angeles, Calif., for several months and comes to Utah only at stated periods.

TORNE REPORTS UNUSUAL ACTIVITIES AT COAL MINES

A. I. Torne, deputy state commissioner of investigation, labor and statistics, returned today from the coal camps in Carbon and Emery counties, says Saturday's Tribune News, where he instituted investigations of working conditions in the mines and hotels. In all the mining camps he found much activity, with more men employed than usual. At Mohrland, where the normal number of men employed is three hundred and twenty-five, there are four hundred now employed. At Black Hawk, where normally a hundred and seventy-five miners are employed, there are now two hundred and seventy-five men working. At Sunnyside, where nine hundred men are usually employed, there are now eleven hundred engaged, and similar conditions exist at Hlawatha and Castle Gate. The extra demand for coal and coke this winter is responsible for the activity in the coal camps, Torne says.

Torne also investigated cases of alleged violations of the minimum wage law and the nine hour labor law for women. In one instance at Mohrland he secured three dollars back pay for a woman employed in a hotel, and at Helper and Wellington he helped other employees secure back pay. At Black Hawk and Price several cases of violations of the nine hour law are being pressed.
